SURFERS EXTRAORDINAIRE

Te Ringa Awhina has had two great surfing sessions so far this year, getting instructions and encouragement from the very professional and likeable instructors from the South Pacific Surf School based at the Mount. Five great students from Te Ringa Awhina have been involved; Nate, Joshua, Ruhani, Samir and Alex. None had ever been on a surfboard before. It was amazing to see the enthusiasm imparted to them by the instructors, in particular Paddy the Irishman who joked and built a great rapport, and got them relaxed and ready for this experience. Travis, the surf school owner, was also fantastic with the students.

During the second session, Joshua's koro was with us watching from the beach. He commented that he thought this was a fantastic thing for these students to do. Just seeing the smiles on the faces and the hoots coming out were enough in itself. Mr V got in the water to help out and of course got pressured by the students into getting on a board. After his first failed attempt (wipeout), he managed to stand up, much to everyone's surprise. We will run this initiative for five more Wednesdays and no doubt there will be some students hooked on this great pastime for life.
